Regarding the regional situation, his eminence stressed the seriousness of the regional challenge at this stage and that it has direct repercussions on Iraq "We must focus on the five priorities which are; Avoiding war with all our strength, because the first and biggest victim of this war is Iraq, if this war sparked it will spread to the region and the entire world. Adjusting rhythm and muting the extremists' voices from all parties, because any spark can ignite the war in these difficult circumstances. Prioritizing national interest and there are no interests of Iraq in this war, this requires a national logic to work on addressing any repercussions or escalation in this war and giving no opportunity to those who want to ignite war. Internal and national cohesion and avoid the throwing disloyalty and discredits and accusations between Iraqis. Adopting a strategy of mediation between the two countries, and this have many contexts; the first is to be active and influential in this arena for the interest of our country".
