

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem warns against security lax in Diyala, sedition impact on societal coherence

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, affirmed that Diyala has always been a miniature Iraq and an example of brotherhood and peace among its spectra and components and clans.

His Eminence in a statement today, November 3, 2021: The blood of Its youth mixed with their determination to repel the ISIS dark wave from their land not long ago. Reiterating the warning against sedition agendas and the return of sectarian conflict in whatever name, and urging the sane, sheiks, dignitaries, prominent social figures, and political entities to be vigilant against sinful schemes, restrain themselves, and put an end to the deterioration of the situations in it.

His Eminence called upon the security services to be responsible for their legal liability in keeping the peace and saving the lives of its citizens.