

Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim Stresses the Need to Profit from the Security Circumstances that the Country is Experiencing to Create Cohesion Among Iraqi People Components

Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, stressed the need to profit from the security circumstances that the country is experiencing to create cohesion and unity among the different components of the Iraqi people and orient all efforts towards the common enemy. He insisted on learning lessons from the war that our security forces in all their forms are fighting, highlighting the mobilization of all the potentials to free the entire Iraqi land from the filthiness of the criminal gangs who are targeting Iraq and its people and to prevent them from reaching their goals.

This came when his eminence received at his office in Baghdad on Tuesday, 19/5/2015, the Iranian Minister of Defense General Hossein Dehghan and the accompanying delegation along with the Iranian ambassador to Baghdad Hassan Danai Far.

The two sides also discussed the bilateral relations between the two neighboring countries and ways to strengthen them, and tackled as well the security developments in Iraq and the region.
