

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim Stresses Concerted Efforts to Get out of Financial Crisis

\r\n

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, head of Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, emphasized the need for exerted efforts to get out of the current financial crisis by adopting new imported varieties other than oil and by finishing the phenomenon of rentier state.

\r\n

This came during his eminence meeting with Dr. Barham Salih in his office in Iraqi Kurdistan on Tuesday November 3rd, 2015.

\r\n

His Eminence called upon social and political forces and figures to take a role in healing the rift among Kurdish political forces to address the political crisis.