Iraqis surprised the world with an epic battle against terrorism executed by the Iraqi army and the popular forces

His Eminence recalled last Eid Al-Fitr sermon and focused on responding to \"The war to liberate Iraq would need many years and Iraq as a country has ended,\" noting that the response at that time was \"You do not know Iraq nor understand the Iraqis and we will surprise the world despite of all the challenges.\" pointing out that this is what has actually happened in which the Iraqis stunned the world in an epic battle executed by the Iraqi army and the people protected by the spirit of the religious authority floating around them, giving guidance, Fatwas and mobilizing people, the battle was a battle of the people for its homeland and a battle of homeland for its people, stressing that the Iraqis fought the darkness and deviation on behalf of the world and had broken and defeated terrorism, and the people of Iraq will finish their way to victory until the very end, praising the jihadist and political stance of Al-Mihrab Martyr Movement, describing it of being qualitative, sincere and devoted to God and the nation, telling them \"you had fought with courage in the battlefields and you made martyrs and raised the flag of the nation, and you are the center of your people bearing on yourselves and on your families and your sons the threat of ISIS and their suicidal bombers, yet you did not overrate or profit of your Jihad in a time that witnesses a lot of overrating and profiting.\"

We will not be deflected from our goal of building a modern just state

\r\n

His Eminence pointed to pairing of political and jihad action performed by the sons of Al-

Mihrab Martyr Movement, indicating that the sons of the movement worked with everyone in order to gather the nation lines and brought it back to the right path, indicating that they were sincere in the field presenting martyrdom and were sincere in politics challenging intrigues and tribulations, and in both cases they are honest with God, themselves and with others, pointing to the restructuring of tools by stating \" we will not deviate from our goals, and the top goal is building a modern just state, which guarantees freedom, dignity and security, and the future for Iraqi human\" , relying on young minds and cranks that will be the most prominent title in the next phase\", pointing out the rise of the slogan of change six years ago, and it was well thought out and had noticeable impact, and all acknowledged the precision calculations of Al-Mihrab Martyr Movement as it groped towards the future and foresaw the needs of the nation and gave space for young people to stand up to the organizational and political work, describing the experience as fruitful, that produced young leaders who are cadences of pride and reliance, while maintaining the sincere and devoted staffs that provided dearly to defend the religion and the homeland, and those who we raise in them this sincere jihadist spirit, promising to press ahead with the construction of the state and offering effective contribution to solidify the pillars of the modern just state, indicating that the next phase slogan will be ((Youth in spirit and will in order to remove poverty and serve the people and build a young and modern just state)).

Youth and serving are the most prominent titles for the next phase

\\r\\n

His eminence indicated that titles the youth and the service will be the most prominent titles of Al-Mihrab Martyr Movement in local administrations and the federal government in all legislative and executive segments, noting that \"Iraq deserved to offer it the best we have, and there is no better than the mettle of youth and the wisdom of the people of expertise and professionalism and their aspiration and their insistence on success and excellence, and there is no better than to lift the injustice and poverty and vulnerability for our people \", considering that the youth blood preserved Iraq and liberated it from the defile Takfiri savages rabble and also that would re-built and lead towards the future, and that the blood of the oppressed and the poor is supplying battlefronts with blood, who were first responders to the religious authority's calling to counter-terrorism, addressing the young people by stating \"set sails toward the future, its calling for you, Iraq is calling for you, this is your future, this is your people, and the blood that slaked this pure land is your blood,\" calling on them to lead the nation into the future and build a the state, urging the need to take advantage of the experiences of maven pioneers who represent the heritage of this country, and our movement have a lot of them.

A call to countries in the region to rationally manage their interests and the limits of its conflict

Regionally, his eminence pointed to years in which the region live through overwhelming chaos and intersection in interests and projects and competition for power and influence, calling on countries in the region to be more reasonable in the interests' management and know the limits of their own conflicts, because they will ultimately lose a lot in front of this huge amount of human and material losses that the countries in the region are exposed to , urging countries in the region to resolve their cases for there is no winner or loser, and people are paying the price of these intersections, indicating that everyone had tried bone-breaking policy and reached to a dead end, where everyone became exhausted because of wars and its consequences and abhorrent aftermaths, citing the attack of terrorism on all, without exception, noting that it is out of naivety that one thinks is far from the tusks of terrorism or imagine its courtyard is immune from this diabolical cancer that does not distinguish between an enemy and a friend, and also does not differentiate between a Shiite and a Sunni or Muslim or Christian or Sabia or Ayazdi or Alawi or Druze, Arab or Kurd, or Turkoman or Shabak, describing terrorism as the child of a demonic serial killer fueled by Takfir and deviant fatwas, and there is no option for countries in the region but to sit at the negotiating table and resolve problems through dialogue, and define the parameters of interests and influence, noting that war, no matter how long it goes and how great losses of life and infrastructure is resulting, in the end, solutions will be at the negotiating table.

His Eminence addressed the brothers in the government of Bahrain to review its decision to withdraw the citizenship of Ayatollah Sheikh Issa Qassem, at the same time showing his adherence to not to interfere in the internal affairs of other countries, adding, \"from our humanitarian stand and our care to the security, stability and coexistence in the Kingdom of Bahrain and in entire the region, we renew this appeal\", noting that Iraqis have suffered from statelessness during the former regime's policy and has proved to be a futile policy that does not provide solutions, but rather sow hatred and discord between the people of one nation.
