

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakim reiterated emphasis to prepare for the post-ISIS and not to make same mistakes

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakim, chairman of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, reiterated the need to prepare for the post-ISIS and find political, social and economic solutions, calling the leaders of society to find solutions for Iraqi community's issues that had resulted by the presence of ISIS.

\r\n

This took place during his eminence's chairing the Central Shura meeting of the Al- Mehrab Martyr Movement at his office in Baghdad Monday, 18/7/2016.

\r\n

His eminence covered the political situation in general, indicating that the battle of liberating Mosul is the last battle with terrorism, calling the leaders of Al- Mehrab Martyr Movement to conduct visits and to be closer to people and work on serving the populace.