

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakim warns of a media mechanism trying to fail Iraq\'s democratic experiment

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, chairman of Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, warned of a media mechanism focused on the Iraqi experiment trying to fail everything, noting that the Iraqi experiment is witnessing a noticeable progress against all challenges, especially in countering ISIS and the challenge of terrorism.

\r\n

This took place during the quarterly Islamic gathering conference of the students of Iraq at his office in Baghdad, Saturday, 27.08. 2016.

\r\n

His Eminence indicated the Iraqi experiment has its ups and downs, not a total failure yet not ideal, indicating that it needs to be corrected in a lot of its details, urging young people to engage in political work and not to be ashamed of stating what they are working politic venture, because it is a job similar to any other jobs.

\r\n

His Eminence stressed the importance of participation in the upcoming elections and update voter registration as the electoral practice is the most effective means to change the situation in Iraq, reiterating his analysis to the crisis in Iraq stating that it is a crisis of management in all aspects including politics, noting that the criteria of merit is to attend in the field of action.