

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakim congratulates the return of the Sadrist movement to the Iraqi National Alliance meetings affirming their importance

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakim, head of the Iraqi National Alliance, congratulated the return of the Sadrist movement to the Iraqi National Alliance meetings, counting their return a proof of the cohesion and unity of the Iraqi National Alliance, indicating that the message that delivered by the Sadrist movement committee from Sayyid Muqtada al-Sadr to the Iraqi National Alliance was carrying a deep and important vision regarding the institutionalization of the Iraqi National Alliance and the political process and to support the government.

\r\n

This took place in a press conference of the President of the Iraqi National Alliance after the Political Authority of the Iraqi National Alliance meeting with the presence of Prime Minister Mr. Haider al-Abadi and representatives of Sadrist movement Friday, 30.09.2016.

\r\n

His Eminence indicated that the Iraqi National Alliance studied the message of Sayyid Muqtada al-Sadr and was received with acceptance and respect, and put under studying and modifications with great and total understanding among the Iraqi National Alliance powers, noting that the National Alliance will take the placed interrogations into account at Political and Leadership Authorities, pointing out that some of interrogations was out of customary legal contexts through hosting individuals under questioning by the parliament committees before the questioning, stressing that the Iraqi National Alliance meeting will be according to certain schedules of the three authorities , the Political, Leadership and Public, pointing to the importance of the cohesion of the Iraqi National Alliance for the cohesion of the nation and to consult with the rest of the blocks.

\r\n

For his part, the Prime Minister considered the return of Sadrists to the meetings of the Iraqi National Alliance an important step for political stability, and the political stability is an important aspect before launching thr battle of Mosul , that will be soon liberated, praising the effort made by the president of the Iraqi National Alliance for unifying of the word of Iraqis.

\r\n

Chairman of the Sadrist movement committee to the Iraqi National Alliance, Mr. Jaafar al-Moussawi stated that the the content of the Sadrist Movement\'s letter will be announced by the official spokesman of the Iraqi National Alliance, valuing the efforts made by Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakim for the return of the Sadrist movement to meetings of the three authorities of the Iraqi National Alliance.