

Head of the Iraqi National Alliance, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim calls for reconsideration of the educational system and the development of the mental capacity to build the future generations

The head of the Iraqi National Alliance, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, urged to reconsider the educational system in the country and develop mental abilities of students to build a promising future for the generations, as well as the importance of providing development and care for the capabilities of the educational faculties.

\r\n

His Eminence stressed during his visit to a number of schools in Baghdad marking the start of the new academic year Monday, 03/10/2016, hoping all success for the educational faculties at the beginning of the new academic year, recalling the importance of school, and that when schools are open, the doors of the dark are closed preparing to build a future generation.

\r\n

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim called that governmental financial limbering must not affect the educational institution and it should not affect the course of educational institutions to perform their duties and functions, calling to bear the provision of required capabilities to support a generation capable of country advancement, calling for investment in education and educational institutions.

\r\n

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim pointed to the need to reconsider the educational system to support the construction of humanitarian character of students to build an integrated character stressing the importance of making education system in Iraq into an educational system that educates and develops the ability to think and analysis issues and to positively deal with the reality, and paying more attention to make the educational system closest to social realities by involving the practical applications in the curriculum.

\r\n

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim concluded by calling for educational achievements similar to the achieved military victories which contributes to building the country, praising the great sacrifices made by our armed forces seeking successful permanence of the education system.