

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim: Countries\' meeting in a neighboring country to discuss the situation in Iraq without Iraqi representation is faulty

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, head of the Iraqi National Alliance, indicated that countries\' meeting in a neighboring country to discuss the situation in Iraq with the absence of representation of Iraqi people or Iraqi government is described by faulty, addressing his speech to the meeting\'s parties \"who gave you the right to be the custodian on Iraq and its people and any right to sit and discuss Iraqi affairs with the absence of Iraqis,\" counting this act a violation of national sovereignty and dignity of Iraq, calling those countries to stop testing the patience of Iraqis for it has limits, noting that a moment will come when Iraqis remember their brothers by the size of wrong doings committed against them .

His eminence stressed the rejection of Iraqis to expressions of arrogance and superiority calling those parties to be objective and read the facts on the ground and abandon the acts of imposition on Iraq , affirming the willing of Iraqis not to slip into a sectarian policy that cut bridges of friendship, refusing all sectarian descriptions that some are trying to fabricate on the popular forces, wondering if the popular forces were sectarian, would they remain defending their land and deflect Daesh, or leaving usurped cities and its suffering people, but they were motivated based on the patriotism that they have, calling on those who accuse the popular forces of sectarianism to ask the people who were freed from Daesh, stressing that the mistakes are not justified and everyone makes mistakes, but there is great difference between an unintentional mistake and a designed mistake, indicating that accusations of sectarianism to the popular forces had been spread at the same time with the targetting of innocent people in Sana\'a, warning from Daesh attempts to take advantage of side battles created by some sides, while Iraq is immune from Daesh unlike other countries in the region that would be sunk by it.
