Head of the Iraqi National Alliance rejects arousing sectarian strife and hatred among Iraqis, stressing that no one is entitled to prevent Iraqis from participating in the honor -of liberating their land, adding: \" from Mosul, we will rebuild the Iraqi society and re mount our national borders and define our common future.\"

Adding: \"Iraq refuses a non-Iraqi upper hand, and receiving plans from outside its borders and national spaces:, stating \"We have to think and act in the spirit of the people who reject all barriers, to build a nation that respects its citizens.\" Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim explained: \"We are aware of the difficult and long road, but we had crossed the danger mark and the challenges, now we are in the process of setting priorities and boost confidence, for without confidence in each other and without trust in our ability to co-exist and without confidence in the unity of this great nation, we can not win and continue to work.\"
