

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim warns of political exploitation of sectarianism and calls for emplacement of Iraqi diversity through expanding national relations

Head of the National Iraqi Alliance, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, warned of some of those who speak of the strongest sectarian phrases and exploit it for politically, pointing out that \"some of who are talking with the harshest sectarian phrases are so far from religiosity and some utilize the holiness of a sect through a hideous political exploitation to religion and the sanctity of the sect and this is what we must be careful of it.\" .

\r\n

His eminence in his speech at Islamic unity conference, which was held under the sponsorships of al-Jihad and al-Bina movement Saturday, 21/01/2017, stressed the need for national and Islamic unity as long as it is based on sound foundations, indicating that the diversity that is built on the basis of complementarity, respect and co-existence with other ideologies is a source to enrichment and deepening unity, and express the needs of the community and integrate issues then everyone feels the need for each other.

\r\n

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim stated that the phenomenon of favoring private interests over public interests in political parties and neglecting the interests of the people is a negative and offensive phenomenon, calling for rejecting the political and partisan exploitation and correct the performance.

\r\n

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim talked about the We Are Coming Nineveh, noting \"We are today on the verge of victory and ending this long, painful and bitter battle that had made a lot of sacrifices and made a lot of achievements and gains, and most importantly that the Iraqi people reunited against one enemy and will show the seriousness of terrorism, extremism and militancy, we had sacrificed and we lost a lot human and material resources, but we gained an important assurance, wide range of community culture, and immunities facing violence and sectarian discourse became rejected, and those use this type of speech losses his community tally, this means that the popular awareness has increased, and this is a win that we had regained our people, uniting them and immune them from extremism and sectarianism noting that the region is trending extremism and the political sectarianism became the approach adopted by many in this region. \"

\r\n

Head of the National Iraqi Alliance, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, pointed out that these moments are historic moments and decisions must be made properly and to be careful when handling instantaneous feelings, emotions and quick reactions for there is no space to bear outbidding and solo readings, we should be up to the size of the event and its requirements, and to take the right step that unites the country and the people, adding that the national settlement is a reconciliation between Iraqi socially, politically, developmentally and functionally in all domains.