

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim receives Egyptian Ambassador Alaa Moussa and discusses bilateral relations between Egypt and Iraq

Head of the National Iraqi Alliance, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, in his office in Baghdad received Ambassador of the Arab Republic of Egypt, Mr. Alaa Moussa Thursday, 16.02.2017.

\r\n

His eminence discussed with Moussa the bilateral relations between Iraq and Egypt and means of strengthening relations on political, economic and cultural levels, stressing that Egypt has played a major role in the Arab and Islamic world, and Iraq needs the support of a country as the size of Egypt for the big commonalities between Iraq and Egypt, particularly in history and civilization.

\r\n

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim indicated that terrorism is a threat against humanity, reiterating his description terrorism as cancer that will spread and infect everyone if not treated by amputation, and here is the world today living possessed with terrorism everywhere, calling for more unity and particularly the creditable institutions to address misgivings about Islam and clarify points that are exploited by terrorism to recruit young people and drag them in their deceitful massacres.

\r\n

in respect of the battle of Mosul, his eminence indicated that the right bank is the most important challenge and victory is also a matter of time, and Mosul needs to be treated on security, political, societal and developmental and economic levels, and that's what suggested by the national settlement project which need the support of brothers supporting Iraq stability, because the stability of Iraq leads to the stability of the region and the world.