

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim to the managers of administrative units in Diyala ..
Do not wait for to implement decentralization, foster the province through investment and armies of staff

Head of the National Alliance, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, stressed the importance of exploiting all the potentials available in service departments and other departments at the administrative units in Diyala to achieve what draws the attention of Baghdad and then contribute to the advancement of the province, calling for the importance of investment and utilize the enormous opportunities offered by the nature of Diyala and its location.

\r\n

His eminence during leading the delegation of the National Iraqi Alliance and meeting with the managers of administrative units in Diyala province pointed out to the need to turn challenge to an opportunity and the plight to a gift, noting that crises management needs the ability and capability that make a successful official and enable him to manage its unit in light of the difficult circumstances and the shortage of financial allocations \" .

\r\n

His eminence stressed the need to mobilize the potentials of the province, and drew the attention of Baghdad in order to be interested in it and create opportunities for success, noting the existence of possibilities if they were surveyed in the provinces and then linked with each other it would achieve an achievement in various domains, calling to find clear mechanisms to exploit the capabilities of the army of staffs in Iraq, through changing the vision and linking it to available resources. \"

\r\n

The head of the National Iraqi Alliance touched on the law of 21 and administrative decentralization, noting that the provinces that seized their right by force was able to create opportunities while some other provinces are waiting when instructions, approval and official authorization arrive for transfer of powers and these provinces will wait a long time.