

Declaring the Death of Religious Leader and Scholar Ali Al Musawi, Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim: Our Islamic and National Arena Has Lost a Poised Personality Renowned for Great Ethical Characteristics

Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, assured that the national and Islamic arena has lost a poised personality renowned for great ethical characteristics with the death of the religious leader and scholar Sayyid Ali Al Musawi. He explained that the deceased (may Allah have mercy on him) had dedicated his life for the noble human values and worked hard to promote the Islamic principles of forgiveness and pacific coexistence among the people of one country.

This came in the declaration of death of the religious leader and scholar Sayyid Ali Al Musawi on Thursday, January 15, 2015.

His eminence expressed his sorrow for the death of Sayyid Al Musawi, and extended his deepest condolences to his family, loved ones and followers asking the Almighty to grant rest to the soul of the deceased and keep it in His paradise.