

Al-Hakeem praises the brotherhood and harmony among the Muslims and Yazidis in Sinjar Town

On Monday 13th of February 2012, Sayeed Amar al-Hakeem, the head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq praised the brotherhood and harmony among all social and political competent of the district of Sinjar in Mosul, stressing the importance of the unity of this nation and people to create strong will in facing the difficulties and challenges to achieve the construction at Sinjar Town

His Eminence referred - during meeting with the people of Sinjar today - to the national role for the people of Sinjar in defending their privacy and identity of Islam, calling for everyone to be unified and adopt the national interest instead the personal one in order to precede the development of their city