

Al-Hakeem calls for a solution and determine the educational problems

On Thursday 1st of March, 2012. Sayeed Amar al-Hakeem, the head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq visited a school for talents in Basra province, as he called for better educational and scientific needs, using developed and modern technology to be deliver the student.

Al-Hakeem stressed the need to establish training courses and the introduction of scientific methods in teaching, in addition to the twinning system with the other country's educational and scientific institutions to provide a developed model in this field

His Eminence expressed his pride with the Iraqi teacher along with Teachers' Day on the 1st of March, calling on relevant authorities to develop solutions and address the dilemmas that educational families faces especially at the living situation, calling at the same time – theses families - to invest the powers and the opportunities in order to speed up the wheel of the advancement and development in Iraq

Sayeed Amar al-Hakeem emphasizes the necessity to build the human first before anything else, calling officials, media outlets and civil society organizations to publicize the talents schools for the success of the project, urging Iraqi families to send their children to these kinds of schools for the best of the country

To be mentioned that the Talent schools are part of – Commission for Talent's Care - national project sponsors students who have high scientific capabilities and reaches students from Basra, Dhi Qar and Muthanna provinces