

The book titled Kerbala

Methodology and Liberality is a portrait of awareness where opinions come to life, so through them the ideology of one wise man passes to shed a Divine light on the youthfulness of the Taff and its ability for change, on the manliness and the renaissance following the estrangement of the Message in a confrontation between the will for reform (by al-Hussain) and the will for corruption (by Yazid), so the thundering call may be sustained: "Far away is humiliation from us!" activating and interacting as days and years pass by so Kerbala may be a revolution and a conduct, a rejection and commitment, an eternity and growth, lessons and application, affiliation and commitment, unity and harmony, a conjunction and a destiny, a covenant and straightforwardness, a greeting and a salutation
