

Cordiality and Clemency

Marriage is a key component in the building of the human society and has an important role in helping the human being achieve perfection at many levels (psychological, physical and spiritual). Only with marriage security and stability can prevail in the whole society. Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim (May Allah protect him) has given particular attention to the collective marriage ceremony as evident integration between the spirit of sharia and its moral ends in the world of humans. The marriage is the basis on which are built the rules of mercy, loyalty, clemency and cordiality as established by Allah in the Holy Quran. The words of his Eminence reinforce the culture of cordiality and clemency ordered by Allah and his prophet (PBUH), that leads the noble goal, i.e. building a humanistic pious society that lives under the care of Allah and is supported by the deeds of the believers.
