Social Relations in Islam

We issued a book in which we discussed the general system of the social relations not only based on a pure legal case or harsh frames to regulate the relations, but also based on an ethical view on how to regulate such relations. The love and cordiality feelings must rule the nature of relations between people from an Islamic perspective.