

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem describes Supreme Religious Authority's statement with paternal care & a deep insight into things' path

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, described the paragraph of the Supreme Religious Authority with paternal care and a deep insight into the path of things. His Eminence tweeted on Wednesday, September 29, 2021 "With pride, we received the statement of the Supreme Religious Authority. It urged the Iraqi people to participate effectively, consciously, and responsibly in the forthcoming legislative elections." Illustrating that the paragraphs of the statement indicate responsible paternal care and an insight into the path of things and the future and present challenges. And patriotism can be felt calling for a serious stand and full response of the people to change the status quo, especially after the Supreme Religious Authority had counted it as the safest path for the country to reach a better future.

His Eminence affirmed that he joins his voice to this grand call, and put his hopes on the people of our country to answer the call and record a great national epic to make the desired change. All to build a great capable state. Where its people can rejoice under its banner of goodness and blessings.
