Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, expressed his condemnation and denouncing on the targeting of the Prime Minister's house.

His Eminence tweeted on Sunday, November 7, 2021, "Targeting of the Prime Minister's house is a condemned and denounced act that can complicate the situation further and endanger the sovereignty of the state as well as weaken Iraq's reputation to the national public opinion."

His Eminence illustrated that targeting the supreme executive authority in the country is a dangerous development that paves the way to more dangerous events if the sensible and decision-makers do not address its repercussions, thus endangering the accomplished achievements on the security, political, and economic levels.
