

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeems warns against increased terrorism attacks, calls for political pacification

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, expressed great concern following the terrorist attacks launched by ISIS gangs targeting the hot operations zones, and the valiant response by our security service consisting of military, police, and the popular mobilization forces on Tuesday, November 9, 2021.

His Eminence valued the sacrifices of the protectors of the homeland, and warned against the increase of such attacks and expanding their areas, and the terrorism attempts to rise militarily and through media by exploiting the country's state and the political tension left by the disoriented results of recent elections.

His Eminence demanded intensifying the intelligence effort and maintaining preemptive strikes operations to nail the terrorism coffin.

His Eminence reiterated his call to maintain political pacification and to place the public interest first, as well as called upon the political, academic, and media activities to stand by the heroes of our armed forces.
