International Day for Persons with Disabilities: Sayyid Al-Hakeem calls to intensify their societal integration

Sayyid Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, 3 December 2021, affirmed in a statement on the International Day for Persons with Disabilities the importance of intensifying their integration in society. His Eminence pointed out his belief in persons with disabilities and how they are idle capacities. International, human rights, and humanitarian events organizations must not overlook this large segment, that pays the price of futile wars and dark terrorism.

His Eminence reiterated on developing an educational environment, updating curricula, activating institutional work, and paying extra attention to their international days. Moreover, institutions and public spaces must get upgraded to support and enable persons with disabilities in their daily lives.
