

Women's Role Model Organization 11th conference: Sayyid Al-Hakeem calls to restore women's self-trust, develop their knowledge & cultural capacity

Sayyid Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, renewed in the conference his congratulation on the blessed birth of Al-Sayyida Fatima Al-Zahraa "PBUH" stating that she was a great personality and a role model for all of mankind not just for Muslims alone.

His Eminence stated that Al-Zahraa "PBUH" is the mistress of all women in the world, an embodiment of the women's role in celestial religious movements and that Islam doesn't discriminate between genders, yet it differentiates them based on features, and distribute roles and missions depending on the capabilities that Allah's put in them. The criteria of differentiation in Islam are based on faith, knowledge, jihad, and belief. This applies to men and women alike, as this is within the framework of Islam in redressing women. H.E. called to confront the gender-based violence in our society and to base the requirements from women based on her capacity, personality, physical attributes, and psychology.

His Eminence called to restore women's trust, strengthen their self-esteem, and preserve their entity, through her entity the entity of the family can be preserved and help to preserve the gains and the legislation that benefits them. In addition, H.E. emphasized the necessity of looking after the women in the rural areas, eradicating illiteracy, and spreading the spirit of optimism and positivity.
