

While presiding over the meeting of the expanded consultative council of the Movement of the Martyr of the Niche, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim calls on the sons of the Movement of the Martyr of the Niche to rely on Allah and to stay in contact with people

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq (ISCI), has stressed the necessity of communication with people, of getting down to them and of participating in solving their problems, stressing the necessity of the sons of the Movement of the Martyr of the Niche being distinguished with the trait of reliance on Allah, the most Praised and the most Exalted One, in everything. This came up when His Eminence presided over the meeting of the expanded consultative council of the Movement of the Martyr of the Niche at his Baghdad office on Monday, December 3, 2012.

His Eminence expressed his thanks and appreciation of the million-man march of the sons of the Movement of the Martyr of the Niche in reviving the Hussaini epic on the 9th of Muharram in Baghdad and in fourteen governorates, pointing out to the necessity for the sons of the Movement of the Martyr of the Niche focusing on spiritual, doctrinal and ethical building, stressing the necessity of the sons of the Movement of the Martyr of the Niche getting down to the field, emphasizing that the strength of the Movement of the Martyr of the Niche is derived from the strength of its masses. He drew attention to the standing problem between the federal government and the Kurdistan Province cannot be resolved except through a truly constructive dialogue, stressing the necessity of perpetuating the standing relations domestically, regionally and globally.