

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim: the Citizen Alliance Waived Lots of Governmental Positions for It Wants to Involve Everybody

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, said the Citizen Alliance waived lots of governmental positions for it wants to involve everybody without marginalizing any electoral vote provided it sticks to the service of the Iraqi citizens principle. He added that the Citizen Alliance has never thought of marginalizing or excluding any party.

This came during his Eminence's presidency over the enlarged shura meeting of the Martyr of the Niche movement in his office in Baghdad Monday, 1/7/2013.

His Eminence stressed the need to comply with the electoral platform of the Citizen Alliance in the local governments, calling on the members of the provincial councils to make the service of people their priority, reiterating that the Martyr of the Niche movement has never been interested in power, rather in how to serve the people.

The attendees have discussed the political developments in Iraq and how to actively participate in calming the waters, as well as the developments of the regional and international arena.
