

During the 4th Night Event of Ramadan, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim Ask the Officials to Put an End to the Fierce Attacks against "our Citizens";

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, called on the defenders and the officials to put an end to the fierce attacks carried out against our citizens, saying with each new day of the fasting days, a new attack is being carried out against innocent people in the Iraqi provinces whose only crime is them being loyal to Ahl-al-Bayt (AS).

This is what Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim declared Sunday, 14/7/2013, in his office in Baghdad, during the 4th night event of Ramadan.

While explaining the "Treatise on Rights" of Imam Zayn al-Abideen (AS), his Eminence has dealt with the lessons one should apply in connection with his walking to different places, the first lesson being not to walk to a place we are forbidden from going to, while the second lesson is not to go to a place which may put us under suspicion. Here, his Eminence stressed the importance of not setting out to places where it is impossible for us to justify our presence there and the necessity that we head off to the path of knowledge and the good manners and to each place where we can race the others and be ahead of them in coming closer to Allah, serving His Servants and defending what is right and true. In his opinion, this is how we can reinforce our presence and closeness to Allah, the Almighty, and this is part of our moral system.
