

Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim Discusses with Hoshyar Zebari the Formation of the Government and the Care Provided to the Displaced in Kurdistan

Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, highlighted the importance of forming a national government, based on a clear vision and on a homogeneous and competent team, and stressed the need to provide care and means of decent living to the displaced in Kurdistan region.

This came when Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim was receiving Mr. Hoshyar Zebari, member of the Kurdistan alliance, in his office in Baghdad on Monday, August 18, 2014.

The two sides discussed the efforts made by Iraqi political forces to form the government within the constitution to get Iraqi out of its crises, especially the security crisis that many regions are going through.
