

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim Attends a Session to Vote for the New Government

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, took part last Monday night in the parliamentary session attended by the heads of the political movements to announce the composition of the new government and vote for it so that it is approved by the Council of Representatives.