

During His Visit to the University of Sulaimaniyah, Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim Stresses the Need for Iraqi University to Exchange Experiences

Sayyid Ammar Al Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, underlined the importance of coordination and the exchange of experiences between the Iraqi universities in different provinces and the universities of the Kurdistan region, in order to achieve educational and cultural development for the country. His eminence insisted on the capacity and competence of Iraqi students and their eagerness to advance their country to reach the level of which it is worthy. This came during his eminence's visit to the the University of Sulaymaniyah on Tuesday, September 23, 2014. For their part, the university professors and students praised his eminence's attention to the educational and cultural aspect in Iraq, assuring their keenness to carry out their duties and responsibilities to contribute in building and advancing Iraq.