

From Karbala' of Hussain (AS), Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim Says Hussain's Course Is the Best Solution to the Problems of Sectarianism and those Marring the Peoples' Relations

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, said that Hussain's course is the best solution to sectarianism in the region, to the problems marring the relations between the peoples and to the service reduction crisis the citizens suffer, adding that Hussain's course is that of the human coexistence and the confrontation of corruption, tyranny and corruptors.

This came as his Eminence arrived in the holy province of Karbala to perform the Arba'een visit on Wednesday, December 10, 2014.

His Eminence called for going back to the concepts and principles of the Hussain's revolution to build a healthy society and fair, modern state, stressing the importance of the unity between the Islamic nation and the human nation. In his opinion, the ISIS is the course of Yazid, while the religious authority and the movement of the righteous people in this nation represent that of Hussain. He also stressed the need to make the revolution of Hussain (AS) a light for life to face the corruptors so that the nation may restore its dignity and be able to invest in its resources and wealth.
