

From Nahiyat al-Alam, Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim Praises the Achieved Victories, the Discipline of the Popular Crowd and the Field Presence of the Iraqi Tribes

Sayyid Ammar al-Hakim, head of the Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq, praised the achievements made by the security apparatuses and the popular crowd in “Labbayka Rassul Allah” battle, saluting their insistence and intrepidity in defending their land and sanctities without seeking the help of the international coalition through a pure Iraq action that extends over a surface of more than 6,000 km, maintaining that the fighters have a deep insight and vision, and that the land will be liberated and its inhabitants will return with their dignity intact. Here he said he was happy to see a great number of the citizens of Saladin and its good tribes working in solidarity with the citizens of the south who came to their help.

This came during a visit made by his Eminence to the field where the operations of “Labbayka Rassul Allah” battle are taking place and his meeting with Mr. Hadi Al Amiri, General Secretary of Badr organization from Nahiyat al-Alam, al Adhim, Samarra and alBou Ojeil on Sunday, 8/3/2015.

His Eminence stated that the support of citizens of the south for the Saladin tribal members show the original Iraqi chivalry and the national cohesion away from any sectarian sensitivities, explaining that while ISIS’s acts were intended to divide the Iraq society, the latter became united, praising the compliance of the security forces and the popular crowd with instructions of the religious authority and their competition for taking care of the innocent people and providing safe accesses to them.
